Once upon a time, there was a little girl with curly blonde hair named Goldilocks. One day, while walking through the forest, she came across a very cute little house. Being curious, she decided to knock on the door, but there was no one there.

Upon entering, the girl saw a table set with three bowls of porridge. Feeling very hungry, she tried the first one, but it was too hot. The second one was too cold. The third one was just right, so she ate it all.

Satisfied, Goldilocks went into the living room and saw three chairs. The first was too hard, the second was too soft, and the third seemed perfect. However, as soon as she sat down in the smallest one, the chair broke.

Feeling tired, the girl went upstairs and found three beds in the bedroom. She tried the large one, but it was too hard; the medium one was too soft. The smallest one was so cozy that the girl soon drifted off and fell into a deep sleep.

While she slept, the owners of the house returned from their outing. It was the Bear family. Papa Bear and Mama Bear noticed that their porridge had been disturbed. Baby Bear, crying, shouted, “Someone has eaten all my porridge!”

Startled, the bears went into the living room. Papa and Mama saw that their chairs had been moved about. Then, Baby Bear looked at his own chair and cried even harder, “Someone sat here and broke my chair!”

Determined to find the intruder, they went upstairs to the bedroom. Papa and Mama noticed that the beds had been rumpled. When Baby Bear looked at his bed, he saw the little girl sleeping peacefully on his pillow.

At that very moment, Goldilocks woke up and found herself face-to-face with the three bears, who were looking right at her. Startled, the girl jumped out of bed, ran out of the house, and never returned to that forest without her parents' permission.
